Some Things Change

A From Miniskirts To Jeans And Back Again.

At SMH, we have seen many fashions come and go. In the past there were jellies, high top tennis shoes, and twister beads. 1985 brought us plastic bracelets, over sized sweaters, big belts, long necklaces and dangling earrings. Even hairstyles have changed over the years. We've gone from beehives to bobs to mohawks, and back to bobs. For the most part, though, students at SMH follow their own trend where anything goes!

1. Dorothy clicks her heels three times and says, "There's no place like home." 2. Eric Patterson and Kelly White express their "originality" through their hairstyles. 3. Kim Reed is showing off her trendy accessories. 4. Big Belts are in this year. 5. Sara Smith is taking no cracks about her brightly colored shirt. 6. Long earrings are what most girls are wearing lately. 7. Lucy Montalvo enjoys dressing in style.

New Faces Show Up At SMH

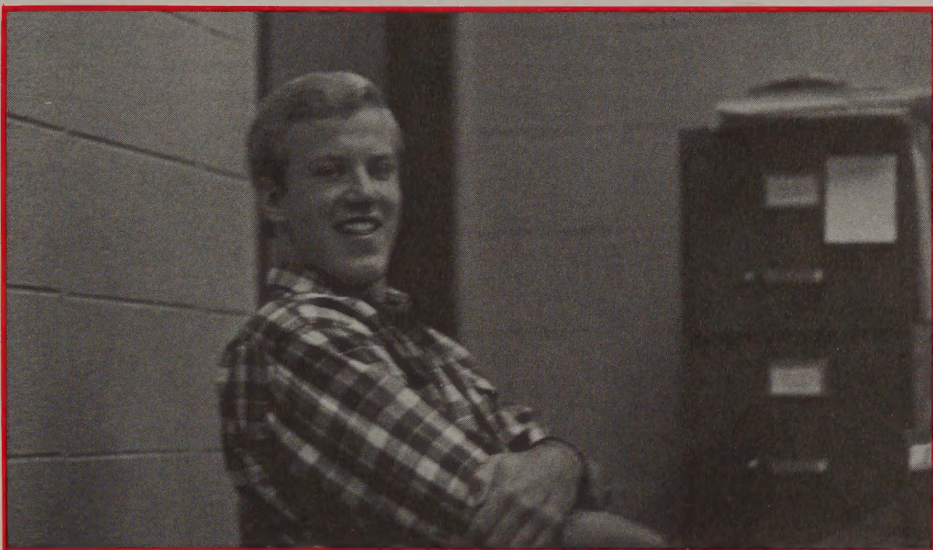

If you have seen many new teachers and students walking through the halls with confused and out-of-place looks on their faces, you are not alone. This year SMH has added several new faces to the faculty, and we even have a new principal, Bill McKee. There are also many new students at SMH, including two foreign exchange students from Norway and Iceland. Everyone knows how it feels to be a new student in a new place and we welcome these many newcomers to SMH with respect and open arms.

1. Ms. Williams, what are you doing? 2. Per Christian, smile! This is America. 3. Ms. Hammond takes a break from grading papers. 4. Ms. Fishback takes her turn at hall duty. 5. Are you working hard enough Rob Hutchens? 6. Petur Einarsson seems to enjoy life at SMH.

Friends Are Always There, Through Thick And Thin

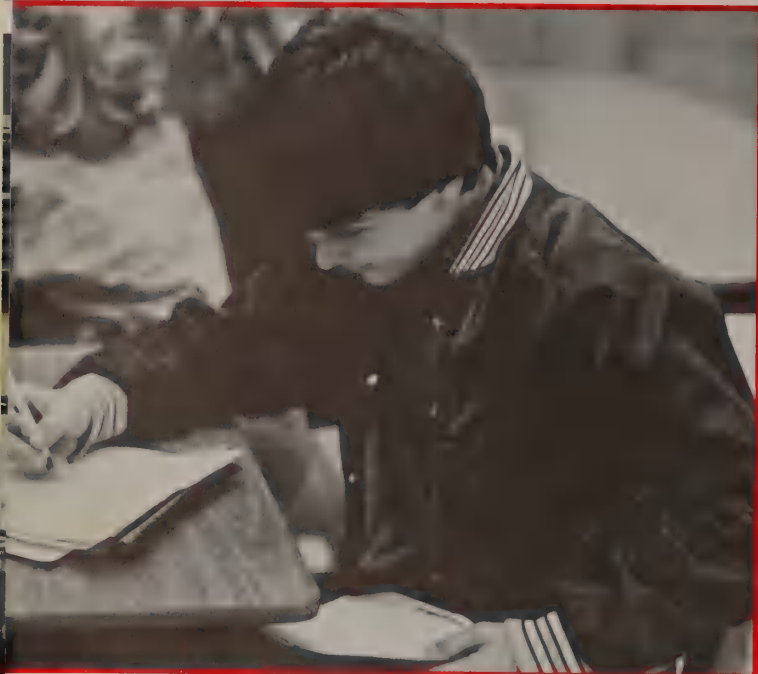

Friendship plays a major role in almost everyone's life. Friendships may change over the years, some growing stronger, some weaker. The fact still remains, everyone has friends. And a true friendship will last a lifetime.

The glory of friendship is not the outstretched hand, nor the kindly smile, nor the joy of companionship; it is the spiritual inspiration that one comes to when he discovers that someone else believes in him and is willing to trust him.

1. Show us those pearly whites. 2. Paige Acker and Stefan Forsyth spend a friendly moment together. 3. These two are more than friends. 4. George Pierce, didn't your mother ever tell you your eyes would freeze like that? 5. Che' Middlebrooks falls into the friendly arms of Stacie Wallace. 6. Mike Bailey, whose hand is that growing out of your ear? 7. Joanna Davis, can't you open your mouth any wider? 8. Sarah Doscher and Cindy Woods — DIG IN!

Cheating And Excuses Will Never Change

Have you ever walked into your first period class and, like slamming into a brick wall, realized you have a test? Panic takes over. What will you do? We asked some students just that, and here's what they came up with. The most frequently used way is the glancing over technique. Then there is the ever popular cheat sheet. This small sheet of paper can be placed in many places such as inside your jacket, in your pen, or taped on your hand. All of these things are ways of achieving good grades without studying. We now commend those few students who say they haven't cheated but still get the guits; this is called paranoia.

For every wrong doing in school there has to be an excuse. Yes, even the honor roll, perfect conduct student must make up excuses. Each student has his own legitimate excuse for something. When asked for a hall pass, one may respond "I'm going to be sick." Another time when a good excuse is necessary is being admitted to class about 10 minutes late. Teachers seem to fail to believe things like lockers being jammed, or the halls were too full. Of all the excuses given, perhaps the hardest is the excuse for skipping. Before going to the office you start to think about this terrific story. "Well, Ms. Anders, I left 4th period and I suddenly lost my sense of direction." "Likely excuse," you might say, but believe it or not, it happens.

1. Frankie Sobczak, you're not cheating, are you? 2. Brant Buchanan and Jason Mosley say, "We're only comparing our answers." 3. Hey April Ward, did you get number 10? 4. "But Mrs. Javens, I have to go to my locker." 5. "Seriously Ms. Hill, it is an excuse I really..."

Some Things Change

New Rules — Are They Obeyed?

A Along with the new administration at SMH, there came some new rules. In some students' opinion, the new rules have turned the school into a prison, but Jennifer Deaton disagrees. She says, "I don't know whether the attendance policy is good, but I do know that it works, because I haven't been late once, when last year I was late all the time."

The rules such as the one stating that skirts and dresses must reach the knee, are being broken every day. Even though the attendance rules are being enforced, the dress code has not been given high priority.

Beth Eckard says, "I think that some of the rules are unfair because they hurt the people who haven't abused the old ones, but they are necessary in order to keep the students of SMH from getting out of hand."

1. Jennifer Choe, don't you know hats aren't allowed in school? 2. Many girls, like Angie Novak, disregard the rule saying that skirts must reach their knees. 3. No ice cream in the halls, Kina Alarcon. 4. Kelly Mangan looks embarrassed after getting caught wearing shorts. 5. Kim Rankin and Karen Carman get down to the tunes on their radio. 6. This mystery student is smart; he knows that by shielding his identity he won't be caught for wearing a hat. 7. Hey guys, why don't you save this for the privacy of your own home? You're breaking rule number 5.

STONE MOUNTAIN HIGH SCHOOL NEW RULES AND REGULATIONS

- I. Hats are not to be worn at school. Leave all hats at home. DO NOT BRING THEM TO SCHOOL!
- II. No radios, headphones, and tape players are to be brought to school.
- III. Ice cream and milk are to be eaten in the Commons only. Do not go into the halls.
- IV. Student dress - No shorts and no tank tops. Skirt length should be to the knee.
- V. Inappropriate bodily contact between students is not allowed!

Some Things Change

I Eighth Graders Transfer To Stone Mountain II

If you were here last year, you remember the extra crowded halls, eighth graders running to class, and standing in line for the entire lunch period, but not having time to eat. This year there has been a great change. The eighth graders have gone to the annex instead of coming here. With more room to walk in the halls and shorter lunch lines, the upper classmen are much happier.

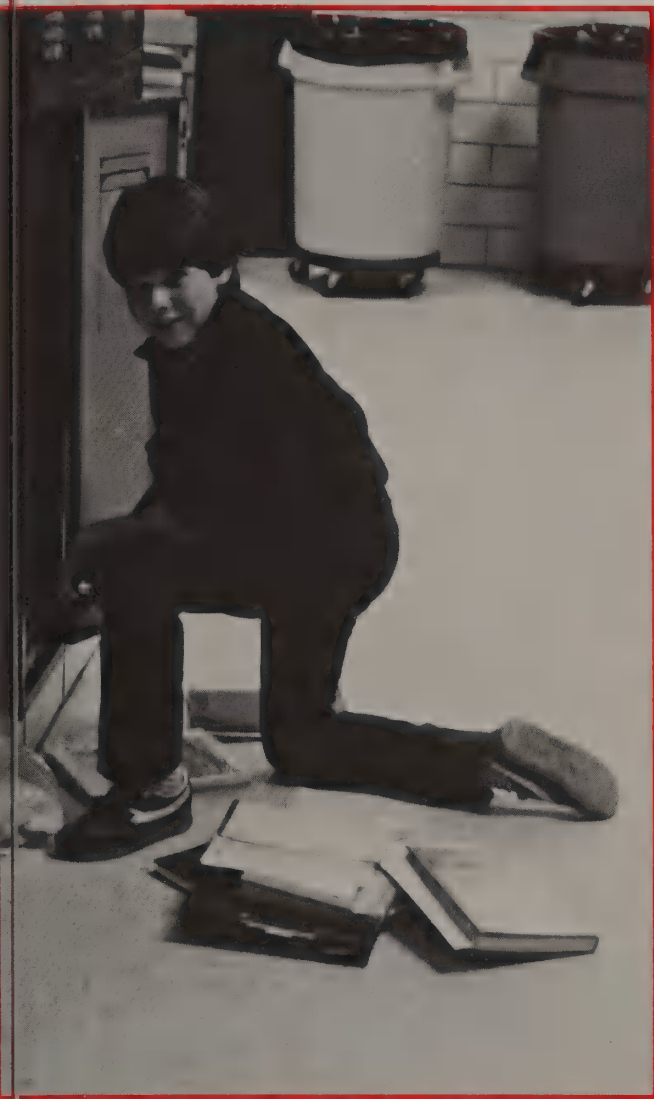

The eighth graders have a change: they are in a new school all by themselves. We were sure they would miss us, but they did not, after all. They even like it over there without us. The rules are a lot more relaxed, the lunches are better, and the halls are not mobbed. So, no matter how much we try to convince ourselves that we have it better, the eighth grade will disagree with us to the end.

1. The eighth graders smile proudly as they show off their open windows. 2. Mike Collins is thrilled about playing badminton. 3. SMH II keeps its rock colorfully painted. 4. Eighth graders enjoy going out back during lunch. 5. We all have those kinds of days. 6. Eighth Graders don't have to share lockers this year. 7. SMH II doesn't have a rushing crowd between classes:

Stone Mountain High Has Got The Spirit!

Spirit is in the air at Stone Mountain High. Everyone has it. To define spirit is to define each and every one of us. "Spirit" is more than a word; it is a good feeling about yourself and your school. It's taking pride in what you do. Showing your spirit is easy for the students and teachers at S.M.H. The pep-rallies, the football games, and all the activities we do show our spirit. Our enthusiastic feeling shows in our faces. The word pirate is only half of the definition for spirit; the other half is all of us. It's the great feeling and the good vibes that we give off that make the word Spirit so very much a part of every one of our lives.

1. The pirate is a symbol of Stone Mountain spirit. 2. Now we're ready to play some football. 3. Alan Weiss, who taught you how to dress? 4. The rock tells many stories. 5. Erin Riley, don't float away. 6. Some students put more emphasis on their locker than their school work. 7. Hold on tight, Andy Schultz.

Mornings Never Change, Especially Monday

Mornings at SMH are hard for most of us. Getting up before sunrise is not most teenagers' idea of a good way to start their day. Luckily, the commons is a semi-comfortable place to sleep, or do homework that was "forgotten" the night before.

1. What's wrong, didn't you get enough sleep last night? 2. Kelda Jones tries to get in one last snooze before the 8:05 bell awakens her.

Bill McKee is the new principal at Stone Mountain this year. As principal, he is in charge of the overall school program. Ms. McNeely is in charge of instruction; Mr. Butler is in charge of discipline; Ms. Anders, another newcomer, is working with attendance. The Administration set several goals this year, including improvement of attendance and raising SAT scores in both Math and Verbal. Working together with the faculty, steps have been made toward these and other goals.

At SMH, there are four counselors to help over 1500 students. It's plain to see that they keep busy meeting with students and their parents. When students need a schedule change, they see their counselor. When seniors need to get transcripts and recommendations, they find their counselor. These four are even there for students who have already graduated and need information.

1. Ms. Jordan explains graduation requirements. 2. Ms. Mears helps Meco Choates with plans for the future. 3. Ms. Usherwood helps the counselors in many ways.

Secretaries at SMH often go without recognition. They make sure all the clerical work gets done in all of their departments. The secretaries help in administration, the media center, the attendance office, the counseling office and the front office. Their jobs stretch from typing the SMH newsletters to checking students in and out. The secretaries get their work done smoothly and efficiently so that each day goes without a hitch at SMH.

The People That Keep SMH Clean And Healthy

Feeding 2000 students at SMH is a big job for the lunchroom staff. They are responsible for serving a balanced diet; meats, dairy products, bread, and fruits and vegetables. The lunch gives students that extra boost for the second half of the day. After lunch, the lunchroom is a disaster, so this is where the janitors come in. The janitors keep SMH as clean as possible. Their duties vary from sweeping floors to fixing the tiles in the roof. Another form of cleanliness deals with security. Our security guard, Mr. Marable, keeps the woods clean from illegal smokers and the parking lot clear of unpaid parkers.

The Art Department covers experiences in all the principles and elements of art. The immediate goals of the department are to expose students to the joys of creativity, experimentation, and invention in a variety of media, and to also try and prepare students for art outside the high school by involving them in outside art activities. Art plays a truly important part at SMH.

The Music Department teaches students the different aspects of music. Some of these are the exactness of musical pitches and rhythms and how they interact to communicate a thought or feeling. Music is a universal and enjoyable language which relates to everyone.

The goal of the science department is to improve the students' awareness of the value of an in depth understanding of various areas of science. Science provides students with a comprehensive, interrelated overview of the world around them. Students learn to view all forms of life, their make-up, and their ecological impact and significance in our world. Students throughout the year refine their skills of observation, interpretation and formal reasoning powers. Now more than ever the importance of a good foundation in science is recognized for life in our high-tech world.

Social Studies teachers had many goals for the year. They would like to provide the students with a varied instructional program. They also wanted to make the students aware of current problems as well as a historical basis for understanding these current events. Other goals were to strengthen skills for college and acquaint students with citizenship rights and responsibilities.

With the move of the eighth graders to a new school, the Stone Mountain faculty was asked if they were interested in teaching at the new eighth grade school. Many teachers requested to go, but some were denied because of the limited number needed. Along with the teachers moving from the high school, new teachers were accepted also. The teachers have adjusted nicely to Stone Mountain II. When asked, some teachers said that they liked the school being less crowded and they especially enjoy having windows. Mr. Edwards remarked that he thinks having an eighth grade school is a great idea, and he likes being able to get to know all of his students.

1. Miss Edwards enjoys teaching English to eighth graders. 2. Melba White helps sub-freshmen with their reading. 3. Mr. Edwards is the executive assistant principal at SM II. 4. Gail Sewell works as a secretary at the new school. 5. Many sub-freshmen are taught English by Ms. Harrington. 6. Coach Schwak teaches P.E. to eighth graders.

Half-time is an important part of every football game. The SMH Marching Corps and Varsity Drill Team performed during every half-time of the football season. A lot of practice and hard work went into making every performance a pleasure to watch. The Marching Corps and Drill Team both attended summer camps to learn new routines and make the path to perfection a little easier.

This years' Varsity Cheerleaders showed super SMH spirit. For the Football players, they baked chocolate chip cookies, made candy bags, decorated doors, painted signs and painted the Rock. While attending NCA Cheerleading camp at UGA, the Squad got the spirit stick every day, and superior ribbons each night. They were chosen to compete in finals, in which they received third overall. In addition, they competed in a State-wide Cheer-off for a $5000 Homecoming Party. School spirit comprised half of the points putting SMH on top. Thanks to student body participation, spirit on top of spirit, and fantastic cheerleaders, Stone Mountain was victorious.

The 1985 B-Team Football Cheerleaders were very busy this year. They participated in making spirit tags, baked cookies, painted signs, and helped in organizing the Spirit Bus to Lakewood Stadium for a Varsity football game. They attended Cheerleading camp at DeKalb Community College where they received the Spirit Stick and an overall rating of Excellent. The entire squad showed great spirit both at Pep Assemblies and at football games to cheer their team on to victory.

Both Cross Country teams did exceptionally well this season. The boys finished with a 5-2 record. The team placed second in region and thirteenth in state. Bryan Bost finished sixth in county competition. The girls' team finished fifth in county competition and fourth in region. Both teams were comprised mainly of underclassmen who contributed much to the team. During December, Bryan Bost and Joni Spinks competed in England in an International competition. Joni finished fourteenth, while Bryan finished seventh.

Varsity Cheerleaders Keep Spirit Up

The SMHS Basketball cheerleaders were in high spirit this season. Candy bags including soft drinks were given to the players on game day. Big chocolate chip cookies were made as treats for the Pirates. The cheerleaders also decorated all the players' front doors with balloons, posters, and streamers. Our basketball cheerleaders did a great job of promoting Pirate spirit among players, students, and spectators alike.

This year's girls swim team started off great with a big win over Shamrock. Ninety-three students had signed up for the team before the first practice. Many have the potential to develop in the skill of strokes. This will be very helpful after more than twenty seniors graduate this year. The girls' team, led by captains Amy Edris and Aileen Behan, had exceptional swimmers including Lisa Lascody, Lori Busher and Alison Tuley. Captains Todd Tompson and Lawrence Artman led the boys' team.

SMH SPIRIT

One week for every year is chosen for the SMH students to express their spirit. Even though this year's spirit week was shortened, there was a great turn out of participants. The week began Wednesday with college t-shirt day; Thursday was beach day; and Friday was red and white day. Most students participated each day, showing their spirit for Stone Mountain High.

STUDENTS AT WORK

Along with every Homecoming season there must be float parties. Some may ask the question, why are they called Float parties, when there is so much work? Perhaps the answer is that this is an occasion to bring the classes of SMH together. In a sense this is work, but there is also food, fun and friendship. After the floats are assembled there is a feeling of pride and unity within the students.

NEVER SURRENDER

This year's Homecoming parade marched down Main Street in Stone Mountain Village. The marching band played festive music and the auxiliary corps marched and danced. People of all ages came to watch the colorful floats and the beautiful Homecoming court. The eighth grade, b-team, and varsity SMH football teams also rode in the parade, as did the cheerleaders. 1985 Homecoming memories will long remain with SMH students.

GET FIRED UP!!!

Everyone was full of spirit and enthusiasm at the Homecoming pep rally. Along with the performance of the cheerleaders and drill team, the faculty put on a skit. Coach Fligg as "Piratebo" led the pirates to regain their spirit from the Titans. He was distracted by many things but continued to pursue the spirit of the pirates. The pep rally got the students fired up for the coming events.

HOMECOMING VICTORY

The 1985 Homecoming Dance was an overwhelming success, thanks to our varsity cheerleaders, who competed with other schools in Rich's cheer off and won $5000.00 to use for our homecoming dance. The band Ruckus was hired to play; decorations were provided by Rich's and set up by the Junior class council. The food at the dance was also catered by Rich's. During the course of the night there were nearly 700 people in attendance. Thanks to our Varsity Cheerleaders, Rich's, and the entire student body, this year's Homecoming dance was one of the best SMH has ever had.

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER

"A Night To Remember" was the theme for the 1985 prom. This was a big night for the juniors and seniors of Stone Mountain High. The prom was held in the Hyatt Regency with the entertainment of Ruckus. According to Alison Tuley "The junior class put on the best prom this school has ever seen." The special evening ended with the traditional senior walk.

SADIE HAWKINS
SAYS ...

GIRLS, GRAB A GUY!

The 1985 Sadie Hawkins dance was a lot of good ole' fun. The old tradition of guys asking girls was broken as many girls grabbed their beaux and went dancing. They had a big hoedown dancing to the latest hits. Couples could go to the Dawg Patch and get hitched by Sam the marrying man. There they received a traditional plastic wedding ring and a marriage license. Steve Shelton said "The dance had a good atmosphere, and was very interesting."

This year's Oktoberfest was a lot of fun, not only for the language clubs who put it together; but for almost everyone. There were a lot of different games to play, such as the pie toss, going fishing, dart throw, and football throw. There was also a wide variety of different foods to eat. Everyone enjoyed the delicious pies and cakes. Jeff Deaton says that, "This year's Oktoberfest was a definite success, and was a lot more fun than staying home and doing homework!"

ALL SPORTS WEEK!!!!

All Sports Week was SMH's way of recognizing winter and spring sports. The week started out with College day, where everyone wore their favorite college shirt. Tuesday turned things around at SMH. It was inside-out-backwards day and people wore their clothes inside out or backwards. Wednesday, people dressed up in their beach outfits. Thursday was yuppie day. People dressed up in nice clothes. Friday was spirit day. Red and white clothes were everywhere.

SENIORS ROCK IN '86

The 1986 Senior class held their Cotillion at Stone Mountain's Lakeside Center. The traditional dance just for the seniors ran as planned this year. "Impulse" was the entertainment for the evening. This was a special night for the seniors to dress up and mingle with the rest of the class. Jenny Naehr said "There was a great buffet and the cotillion was well organized." The seniors will look back and remember this night for a while.

ONE ACT PLAYS!

Ladies Alone and Glory In the Flower were the two one act plays this year. Mr. Rosinger led the drama club in their performance. Ladies Alone was about three girls, who were sworn not to have anything to do with guys one night of the month, but unfortunately they fail their oath. In Glory In the Flower a girl and a guy have a reunion and reminisce of old times. This play sets a somewhat sentimental theme. "Both plays were excellently performed," says Teisha Smedley.

SPIRITS SOAR!!!

The SMH Cheerleaders put forth a lot of fantastic effort in winning the Rich's cheer-off. Half the points were given for school participation, and hundreds of SMH students and fans came to show their overwhelming spirit. The other 50% was based on our cheerleaders. The cheerleaders were judged on participation, precision, over all appearance, and were also judged on a cheer that they had made up themselves. Between our super cheerleaders and our outstanding school spirit, we won $5000.00 towards our Homecoming Victory Dance.

BATTLE IT OUT!!

The Senior Girls played the Junior girls in a football game. This game, dubbed the "Powder Puff game" was the first football game ever played by the SMH girls. The game was sponsored by Student Council. The Senior coach, Karen McDaniel, and the Junior coach, Jill Jennings, organized their teams and played a fantastic game. In this one hour time period, the spectacular Junior and Senior Guys did a variety of highly skilled cheers to support and boast their teams' morales. The final score of the game was a victory for the Seniors, 22-20.

SENIORS CHOOSE DEDICATION

Mrs. Mote blends in with the seniors as she proudly tells that the graduating class is number one!

One important Stone Mountain tradition is that the senior class votes for a teacher to whom they wish to dedicate the yearbook. This year for the first time, the seniors selected two teachers — Ms. Pat Mote and Mr. Bob Rumble. Ms. Mote teaches science and sponsors the Junior Beta Club, and Mr. Rumble teaches social studies and coaches Varsity boys' soccer. Both teachers have sponsored the senior class for several years and are well liked and respected for their friendliness, enthusiasm, and helpful guidance.

"Well, um ... what can I say?"

What's that you have to say, Coach Rumble?

The Senior Class Council of 1986 has worked hard. They helped to create the winning float for the Homecoming Parade. They helped plan the Senior Cruise to be held at the end of this school year. This year's Senior Cotillion was a big success because of the creative effort the Class Council put forth. They also have helped the class plan for graduation.

What's that look for, Chip Wulff?

Karl Meyer spends his class time sucking his thumb.

This year, the juniors at SMH had many responsibilities. First of all, they were busy taking important tests. In the fall, they had the chance to take the PSAT. Throughout the year, the SAT was offered. Also, most juniors got jobs during the year. Though some worked at private businesses, restaurants were popular places to find jobs. The majority of working juniors, though, had jobs at Stone Mountain Park. Finally, spring rolled around and with it came the Prom. Students flocked to dress shops and tux rentals. When the day rolled around, many parents lifted curfew. With school work, a job, and a social life, most juniors stayed busy throughout the year.

Students at SMH are eligible for driver's ed in the spring of their freshmen year, if they are at least fifteen. However, most students wait until their sophomore year when the course is offered both fall and winter quarters. The course lasts six weeks and is doubled up with World History. The two hour class is held over at SMH II. There are three main parts to driver's ed: the classroom learning is composed of learning about safety, drugs and alcohol; simulation, which is learning to drive with the aid of a computer; and the actual driving which takes place on the driving range.

This year's Sophomores are having a great year. There is not much responsibility placed in their hands, since they are the middle grade at SMH. No need to learn new customs like the Worms. No need to be extra spirited at the pep rallies like the Freshmen. There is no need to worry about money for a prom like the Juniors. Finally, unlike the Seniors, there is no concern of graduation.

The Freshmen this year have had an interesting experience. They didn't have a chance to move up. They are still the "babies" of the school. That has its good points and its bad. There's less crowding and smaller classes. But it also leaves these people exactly where they started, at the bottom.

At first, it seemed that most eighth graders were against moving to Stone Mountain II. Then, when asked, over half said that they want to be there for their freshman year. Ashley Wilson stated, "I think it is well organized and it's a great school." According to Rita Butler, "It's fun; we rule ourselves."

he year started out with the second term inauguration for President Reagan. Not long afterwards, The Cosby Show became America's number 1 T.V. show. Miami Vice was another favorite, picking up 15 Emmy nominations. U.S.A. for Africa released We Are The World, to help with famine relief. Swatches and Reebok's became the "in" fashions. The top grossing movie of '85 was Michael J. Fox's Back to the Future. Madonna made her movie debut about the time her Penhouse pictures were published. Sean Penn won her heart and they married, as did Billy Joel and Christy Brinkley. Bruce Springsteen broke America's heart when he married model Julianne Phillips. Pete Rose was brought to tears when he made hit number 4,192, breaking Ty Cobb's record. But the year in baseball was marred by the drug problem which was made public over the summer. The heartrending death of Samantha Smith was one of many including those of Orson Wells, Yul Brenner, Roger Maris, and AIDS victim Rock Hudson. America sat on the edge of their seats as the president was operated on for colon cancer. Luckily, he came out fine. After 73 years, the Titanic was found two miles deep in the Atlantic Ocean by T engineers using T.V. monitors. Lady Liberty began her repair with the help of private donations. We were all upset when Coke was replaced by New Coke. It didn't do as well as expected, so the Coca-Cola Company brought back old Coke as Classic Coke.

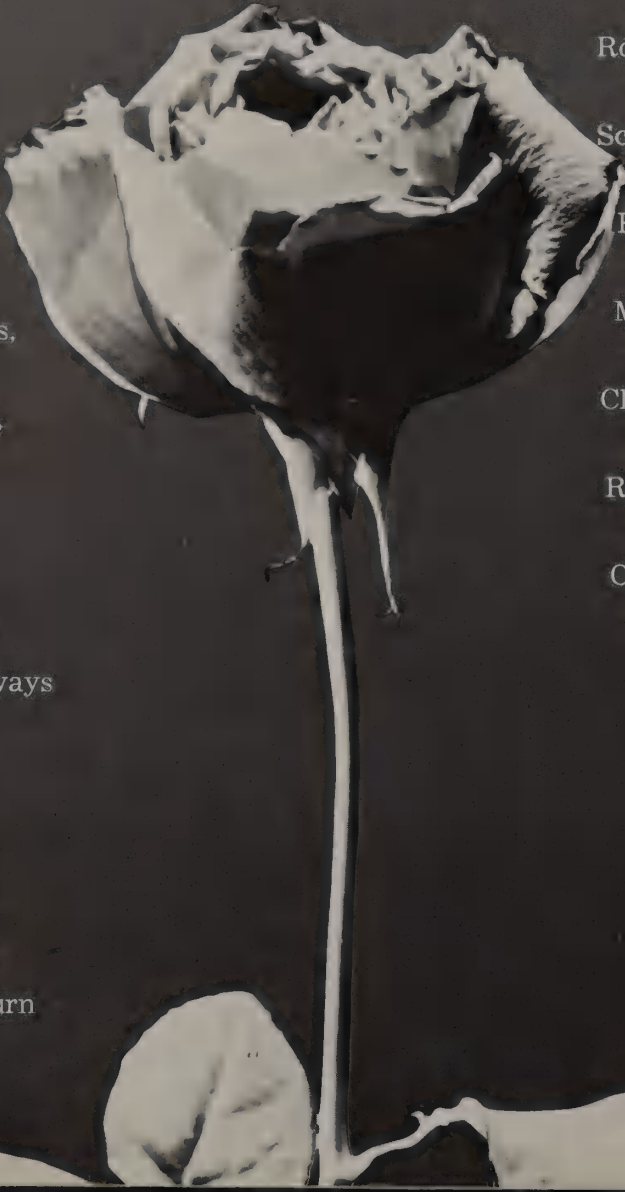

1985: A Time To Remember

Nineteen eighty-five was a year of tragedy and triumph around the world. It was the worst year for airway travel. In June, TWA flight 847 was hijacked by Palestinians, and Navy diver, Robert Stethem, was killed. Uli Dickerson, a stewardess, was the shaken heroine of the crisis. Furthermore, a Delta plane crashed in Dallas, Texas, due to inclement weather. In Colombia, a horrible earthquake killed 25,000, while a Mexican earthquake killed thousands more. The AIDS epidemic shone its spotlight on the Pasteur Institute in Paris, where victims of the disease, including Rock Hudson, went for possible relief. On a happier note, President Reagan and Soviet Premier Gorbachev held a summit meeting in Geneva, Switzerland. Though no immediate problems were solved, promises of future visits were made. Ah-Ha moved into the charts from Norway with the smash hit, Take On Me. Bob Geldof organized the Live Aid concert on two continents, for the relief of starvation across the world. Over the sixteen hour period, 1.5 billion viewers phone in a staggering 84 million in pledges. Not only did this event raise money, but it also raised public awareness. As 1985 came to a close, we could look back and say it was definitely a year to remember.

In Memory Of

Memories are heartbeats
Sounding through the years,
Echoes never fading
Of your smiles and tears,
Moments that are captured,
Sometimes unaware,
Pictured in an album,
Or a lock of hair.

Images that linger
Deep within the mind,
Bits of verse we cherished
Once upon a time.
Through the crowded hallways
Of the days we knew,
Ever comes the vision
Beautiful and true.

Memories are roses
Blooming evermore,
Full of fragrant sweetness
Never known before.
Life must have a meaning,
Goals for which to strive.
Memories are lights that burn
To keep the heart alive.

Cherri,
It's been fun
in IPS. No, it wasn't. Well, anyway have a good summer.
Love W.

Cherri,
It's been a fabulous year and I'm glad I met you! Have a great summer and next time you need someone to go ice skating, call me! I'm not good but I'm fun to watch! Love ya,

Cherri,

Thanks for listening to me when the rest of them
wouldn't listen. Hope I CU next year!

deafly yours,

Cherri,
Thank you for being such a nice person. I hope your summer
is great!
Laura

Cherri,

It's been great knowing you especially this year when I've got to know you better. You'll always be my best swimming buddy.
You win me over with your belly flops. Have a great summer.

your friend,
Nisha

Cheri, at has been great having you in my gym class you. So Sweet
stay the same. Love me
